Dear Yearbook,

In every season, there is God. Occasionally there comes a rare moment when God's splendor is truly revealed.

Such as the winter-time, when the trees are covered with ice and the rising sun casts its rays through the prism-like branches, making the entire landscape sparkle.

In spring, God is in the orchard. The sweet smell of fresh blossom blending with the fresh air of spring is a delight to the senses.

By summertime the same orchard is used as a picnic ground. The trees shade you from the hot summer sun as a cool breeze blows.

In fall, the golden aspens show their final splendor, raining golden leaves in the crisp wind.

So are the seasons of our life, but to see the view you must climb the mountain. To smell the blossom you must use your senses. You must feel the heat before you can appreciate the shade. And the leaves must fall or the tree would die.

Sincerely,
Ca

Festival '87 gave C.C.C. a taste of Hawaii with events ranging from volleyball, live music, and lessons on how to hula. Contests included best legs, best tan, and best sandcastle. But, if you were bad, the consequences might have been jail.

RETREAT

Fall Retreat this year took place in the mountain area of snow mountain ranch.

Students could participate in volleyball, basketball, roller skating, tennis, swimming, or even hot tubbing. If you were courageous enough you may have gone 4-wheeling or on a journey to the water fall.

Retreat was a time of quiet devotion with God and sharing with friends. At the fireside, Pictionary and other board games were popular. Most of all, it was a change of pace from all routine.

Antigone, a play by Sophocles, was set in Greek times and presented by CCC. The cast included; Melissa Vichery, Victoria Anzeldua, Lee Olyer, Ray Brown, Wayne Ballard, Rick Scheideman, Daniel Jackson, Galen Ulrich, Sandy Jackson, and G. Chad Calhoun.

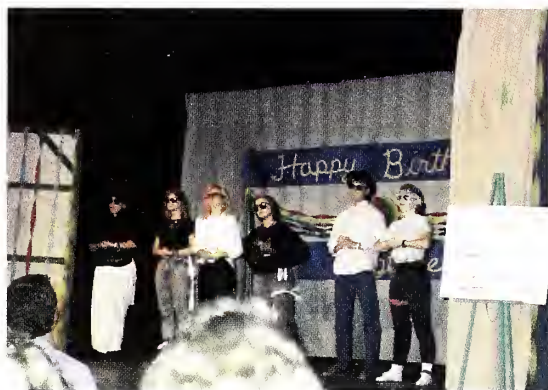

FALL PRODUCTION

"The Madwoman of Chaillot" was a play set in New York City, present date. It was of a countess (Robin Manuel), who with the help of her friends (Constance-Laura Jones and Gabriella-Stefany Scheideman) decided to rid the world of evil. The whole cast did a great job.

SPRING PRODUCTION

RIP ROARIN' RAGTIME

Slowly the lights dimmed and a spot light hit center stage, shining on a young woman who began to dance gracefully. As the evening progressed, many types of students appeared on stage. The Zuccini Brothers, the rappers, and 3 forlorn women singing a heartbreaking rendition of "How Shall I" (ever find myself a guy).

Next I saw two guards that were assigned the duty to keep a singing prince confined to his room, but they couldn't even figure out the king's simple instructions on how to guard the prince. Then came act such as, "The Dueling Noses", "Lifeboat", "Tim and Jimmy Faker", "The Doctor is In," and the "Detective Story."

Since I couldn't discover who stole the show the first night, I resolved to go again the next night.

TALENT SHOW

This spring, CCC students had a chance to get up on stage and show us their many talents. Acts ranged from a trumpet solo to creative dances. Some of the acts were solo performances by Julie Brian and Matthew Johnson. Rex Nickerson and David Pritchard tickles the old ivories for us. Lilly Young did a dramatic reading about hiding behind masks. Don Lobit even did a song that he wrote, sang, and played on the guitar.

But the show stopping act was "Paper Ice." Kent Gray and Kent Verbal opened the show by drumming on everything but their drum sets. There was a contrast to their performance; one was dressed in white, using a white drum set, and the other dressed in black, using a black drum set. They utilized every part of their drum sets including the stands that held their cymbals. They even switched playing each others drums without missing a beat. A well deserved win.

BANQUET

Who done it? This time the butler didn't exist and therefore could not be blamed for the murder of Mr. Body. By the light of a candle, it was up to the CCC banquet goers to determine who committed the murder. It was a step back in time, but thanks to properly trained CCC ingenuity, the crime was solved. Now we may all rest easy.

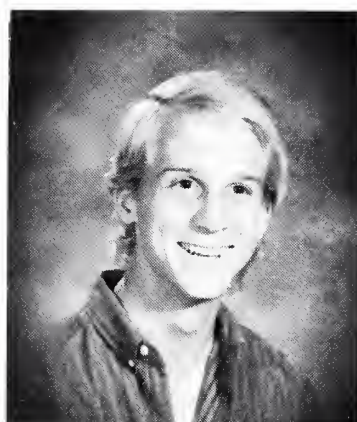

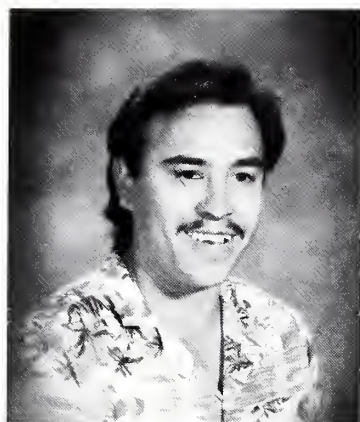

It was chins up for being "Bad," while looking for the Champion of this year's lip sinc. Students once again showed a variety of talent and tastes in music. (not to mention clothes). While just hanging out and enjoying an evening away from studies.

Administration

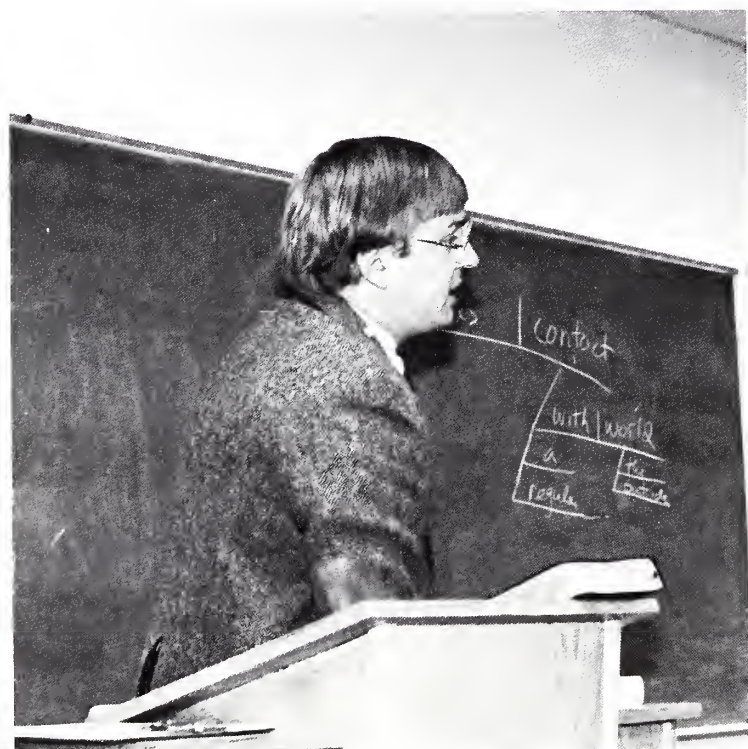

The Backbone

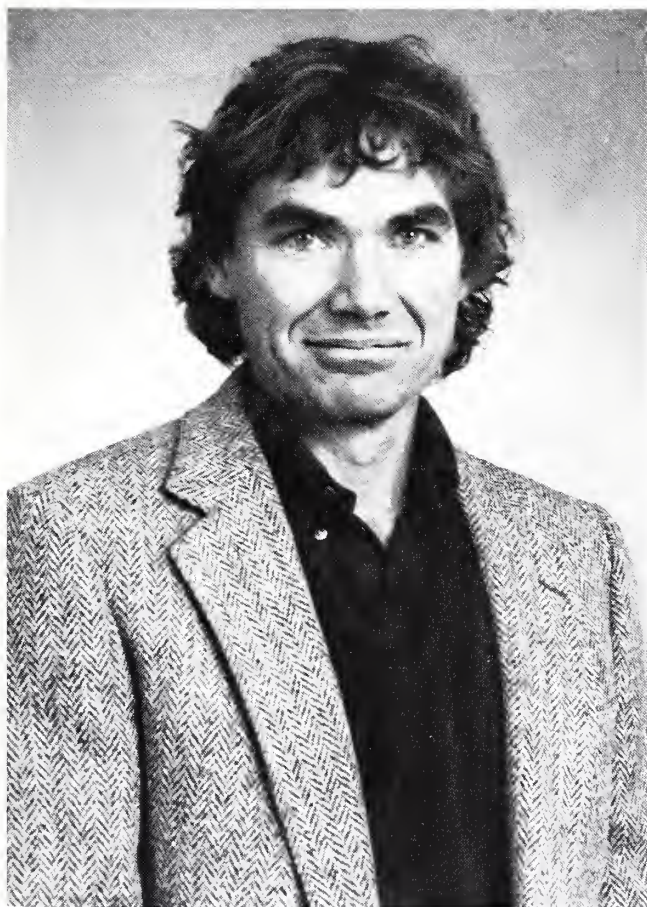

BIBLE

The Biblical Studies Major is open to those who want to seek a degree in the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Theology or Diploma in Bible and Ministry. Students in this major must know how to defend the Bible and show its inerrancy, to use hermeneutic and advanced methods of exegesis. They must also be able to effectively share the word of God to all different communities.

COMMUNICATIONS

Communications is one of the fastest growing majors at CCC. Its two departments — Theatre and Broadcasting had a great year. The theatre put on two wonderful productions. In the fall, they performed "Antigone" and in the spring, their play was "The Madwoman of Chailiot." Both were a hit. It was also a good year for the Broadcasting Department. Soon, there will be TV41, a television station sponsored by the college. This will be a nice addition to KWBI.

COMPUTER LAB

Computer lab is a growing part at Colorado Christian College. It offers the student a chance to learn the practical teachings of computers, giving them that extra edge to move ahead in their field and workplace.

BIOLOGY

Ribonucleic Acid, NaOH, lysosomes, test tubes, Formaldehyde are words thrown around regularly in the Biology dept. And for the Biology major, the department is growing, thanks to Dr. Wilkin and Dr. Beal. We now have a chemistry lab and teacher, Dr. Turner. Roy Bergstrom was a lab instructor for both Biology and Chemistry.

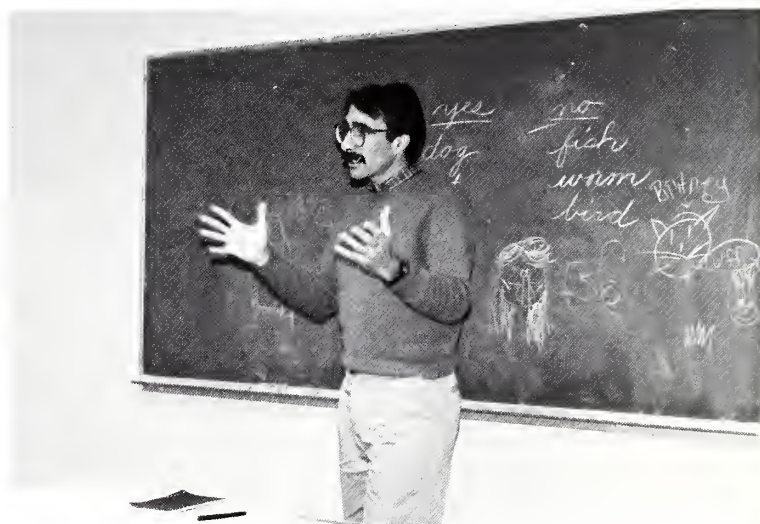

Many debates and discussions went on about abortion, the Third Wave and of our political influence in DR. Marlatt's class. He taught us to think about life around us.

RJ Koerper is more than a professor here at CCC. In his classes he teaches not only academics, but caring for others.

The psychology majors would like to thank Dr. Koehler for all his help in guiding and encouraging us in the years he has been at CCC and Rockmont.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

M I S S I O N S

At Colorado Christian College, there is a great emphasis on missions. Each student is required to have some sort of Christian service, giving them a taste of missions. Dr. Smith is the sponsor of a student run missions club called the Agresors or "Evangelical Students in Action." This group meets twice a week to have discussions and prayer time. They often have speakers come to their meetings who know about missions to give them better awareness.

As Jesus said in Matt 28:19-20, "Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded."

CROSSFIRE

The evangelistic ministry of our talented Christian rock band, managed by Wendy Loloff, caters to junior high, high school, and college age students. Concerts address, from a christian perspective, issues like teenage pregnancy and speak out against substance abuse, casual sex, and suicide. The band's repertoire consists of both popular christian and secular pop and rock songs. Crossfire members strive to honor God with their musical talents, and through the class, (taught by Rick Mezzey), have the opportunity to do this and gain band experience at the same time.

Vocals — Beki, Chris, and Dan; Guitars — and Scott; Keyboard — David; Bass — Frank; Drums — Jon; Lights — Rick Mezzey; Sound — Tom W.

CHOIR

The Choir at Colorado Christian College, performs for churches and social groups. Sometimes, we even get to hear them! In the Spring, the choir performed their talents in Wyoming and Montana.

STUCO

Student Council, better known as STUCO, is a group of elected students chosen to represent the entire student body. The elected students are given the chance to learn leadership and responsibility.

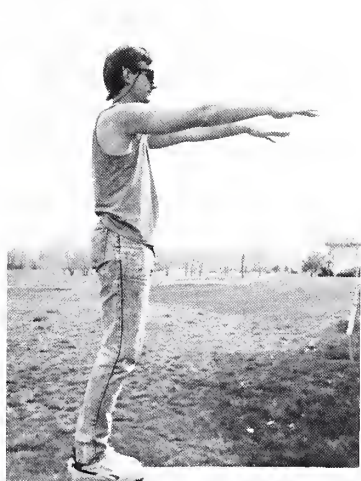

They met regularly working with faculty, to discuss issues, promote the welfare of the students and show Christian dedication in leadership.

PROGRAM COUNCIL

From Festival '88 to the Christmas party, to O'Malley's Alley and Celebration. Along with a variety of other events of the year, one creative person, the backbone to all the events, deserves to be noted — Lisa Varvil. Thanks for making the year more fun.

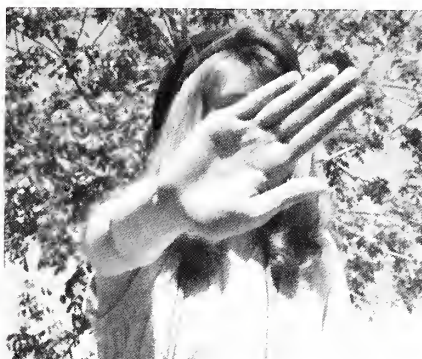

YEARBOOK

The yearbook had an interesting year. Starting edition was Sarah Palmer, who designed our cover. She then left for Wahington D.C., leaving the yearbook to me. (What was that flight number out of here?) My small staff consisted of Teri Castle, Corinna Arndt and Laura Hart, with help from Darren Stroh. Small as the staff was they pulled through for this book. Their dedication was greatly appreciated.

I hope the students enjoy this book and that it will bring fond memories of the 87-88 school year.

STAIRWELLS

Where are you when you're visiting the Far Side, Slime Lake Country Club, the Cornerstone or Double take? Why, you're in one of the many stairwells at CCC. The stairwell is more than just a place that you live in, but it becomes your home away from home.

Once a week, stairwell members meet to share his or her problems, but also to share their victories. Stairwell is also a time to pray with, and for one another.

It is also a time of great fun and fellowship with your fellow brothers or sisters in your stairwell.

Another Sport at CCC . . .

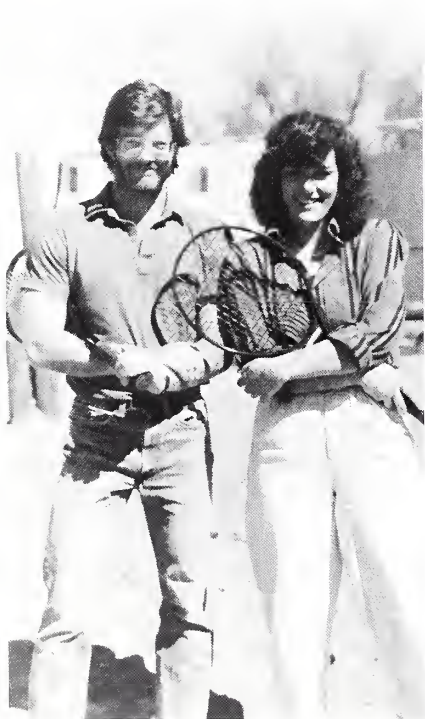

. . . Hanging Out

T E N N I S

This Spring, two guys and three gals made up CCC's very first tennis team. The men's team was made up of Jim Blunk and Don Lobit. The women's team was Teri Castle, Kristi Groel and Debbie Hein. The tennis team was coached by Dick Walker. The team did very well considering how young it was. CCC can look forward to the future.

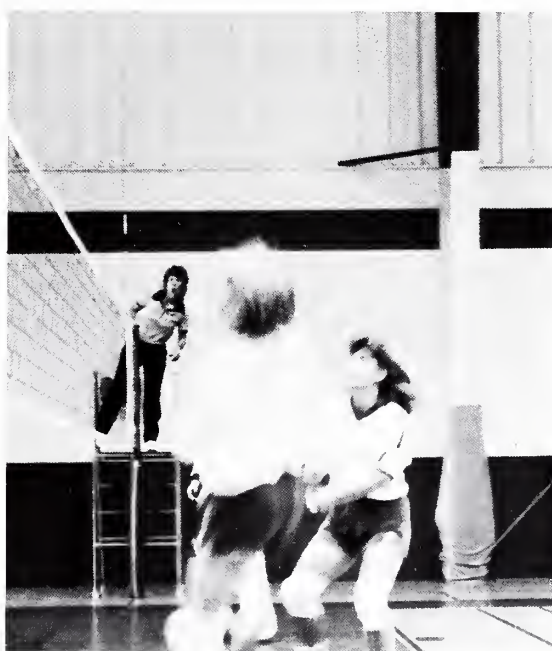

VOLLEYBALL

CCC's Women's Volleyball team survived; they showed all the teams they played the meaning of unity and Christianity on the court. They competed against John Brown University, Kansas Wesleyan, and C.U. in Colorado Springs. The team's improvement over last year has caused all to recognize CCC's commitment to excellence.

As coach, Juanita Perkins had the dilemma of making a functional team from a bunch of misfit girls. She succeeded, and in the process, exemplified patience, love, and dedication.

FOOTBALL

CCC first game was against the Metro Rams in which Steve Bradley scored the first touchdown in Cougar history with an exceptional 40 yard run.

The next two games provided a great deal of growing as a team, although not a whole lot of scoring. The cats were blanked by the Colorado Warriors (a semi-pro team) 30-0, and then shut-out again by Huron College, 40-0. Although the scores may not show much improvement, the players agree that more than physical growth was achieved. Offensive and defensive captains, Lee LaMunyon and Phil Wossilek, respectively, both concurred that the trip back from South Dakota gave the team a chance to become a tightknit group, and above all, to reaffirm and dedicate their service to Christ.

Metro's name again came up on the schedule, and this time the Cougar's headed down to Ram territory. The Cougar's gave an all-out effort and played a solid game. Ray Brown scored both touchdowns in a 20-12 defeat.

As most experiments go, time will tell whether this is a success or failure. Hopefully, this school will have a lot of time to continue with the football program.

Special thanks to the CCC cheerleaders, who enthusiastically led the crowd in cheering on the team. A very special thanks to their coach, Miki Varvil, for her support.

BASKETBALL

The Colorado Christian Cougars put in a good showing on the basketball court this season. The C.C.C. Cougars were under the direction of Dr. Phil Hunsinger. The fans were treated to awesome displays of talent from players Tom Murphy, John Ostrom, Joe Gebre-Michael, Truitt Phillips, Joel McKinney, Dennis Pruessner, Andy Scott, and Lee LaMunyon. Even though the team was not a winning force on the scoreboard, the Cougars showed talent and spirit.

CELEBRATION

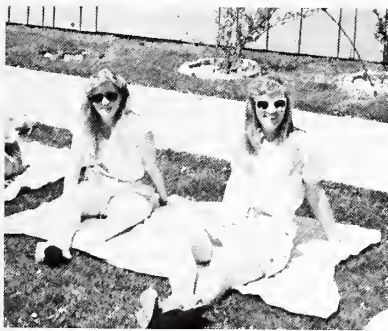

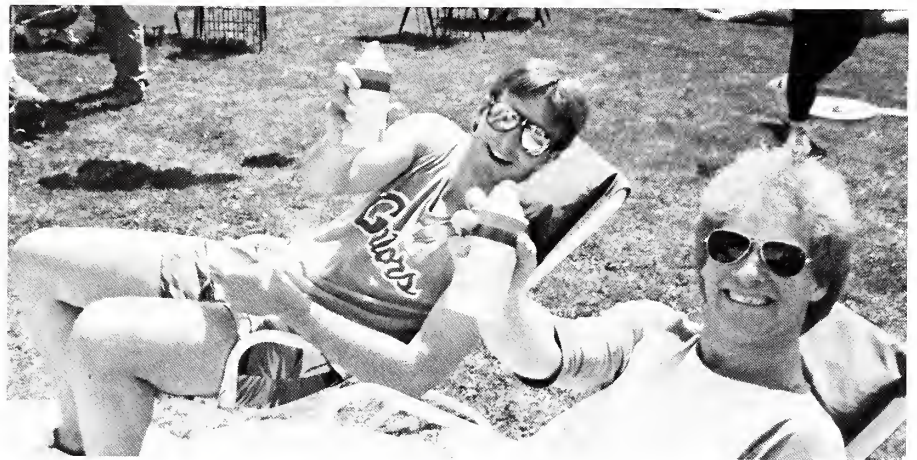

Foothills Conference Center — A riot broke out in the spring of 88 when students from CCC went to the foothills campus to party with reckless abandon. The students were there to attend "Celebration," a school function.

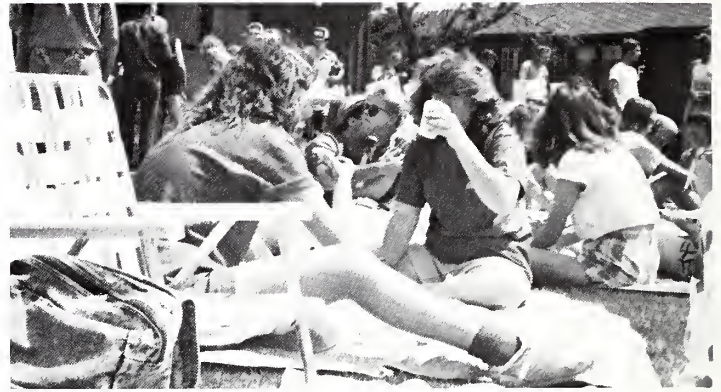

Celebration started out normal, like any other school function would. Then, while posing for a group picture, someone threw a bucket of water on the unsuspecting student body. This is when everyone drew their weapons. Some had water balloons and other had trash cans of water. The seasoned, war-hardened veterans had the dreaded photons.

The casualties were high. Bodies covered with shaving cream were strewn everywhere. Girl's hair-dos were a total flop. No one escaped the terror. The only ones who did were those taking up residence in the wimp zone. There, no harm could come to anyone.

When asked, one victim replied, "I would gladly go through this again." He then pulled out a can of shaving cream and photoned me.
